Intro to Successful Human Relationships

This class will explore many aspects of the complex world of different types of human relationships, from online to IRL friendships and closer, more intimate types of relationships. There is so much that goes into this topic! Lessons will touch on:

- Communication
- Decision-making and problem-solving in relationships
- Gender identity
- Self-advocacy, personal boundaries and SAFETY
- Managing emotions
- Internet & social media

Everyone has relationships. This class will teach the skills that lead to personal growth and success in all types.

Meet the Instructor

Patty Tomanelli has attended a number of conferences focusing on relationships and sexual behavior and is a recognized instructor in this area. She has taught many individuals about their own bodies, sexuality, sexual behaviors and supported families in helping their child/sibling build wonderful lasting relationships with friends and partners. Patty is the Operations Director of Transition Services at PBS Consulting and has a Master's Degree in School Counseling and a Certificate in Applied Behavior Analysis from Long Island University. She has over 3 decades of experience working with a diverse range of students, adults, families and schools. Her clinical interests include family supports, person centered planning, and transition planning for high school students with highly challenging needs.

PBS Adult Education classes are taught using various instructional methods tailored to the specific needs of adult learners. Students will be encouraged to develop critical thinking, research and study skills, and utilize technology for learning and collaboration. All students inherently benefit from being engaged in an active college environment.
